WASHINGTON, May 7.—Secretary of War Stimson's assertion that the American navy alone can insure delivery of munitions to Britain today drew the fire of the congressional non-interventionist bloc, with Sen. Nye (R) N. D., acting leader of the group, terming the speech a "trial balloon for war."

Although administration supporters in congress regarded Stimson's address as a declaration of inevitable policy if the aid program is to be carried out, anti-war members called for the American people "to make their voices heard as never before."

Stimson's speech was the third momentous address by members of President Roosevelt's cabinet within the last 10 days, previously ones by

PA NEW OBSERVES

Along the road fringing Cunningham Park, near Cascade Park, on Tuesday afternoon, a number of green leaves were strewn for some distance. It is believed that the very dry weather has caused insufficient moisture to reach the extremity of the branches for the nourishment of the leaves, and some of them have dropped off.

It has been noted that many motorists believe that a mere halt at a stop sign is sufficient. According to the state law, drivers approaching a stop sign must yield the right-of-way to cars traveling in either direction on the through street.

Long dry spell that has marked the spring in this locality was partially broken last night, when a shower developed, and a little rain fell. Indications today are that some further rainfall may be experienced during the day.

Announcement yesterday of the extension of the water mains to East New Castle to provide for fire protection in that district, marks another progressive step for the district. Two fire departments are already in service in Shenango township, and extension of water mains will give efficient fire protection to a thickly populated area on the outskirts of this city.

Despite the warnings of the police there are bicycle riders in the city that apparently pay no attention to the regulations. In a half hour's time on Washington street Tuesday afternoon, Pa. News saw a bicycle rider cross Mill and Washington street intersection against the red light, saw another ride on the sidewalk and a third ride east on Washington street on the wrong side of the street.

Plan Organization Of Reserve Defense Corps; Company H Centers Here

Following the provisions of an act signed by Governor Arthur H. James, on March 19, 1941, announcement is made today by Col. Robert E. Woodside of Pittsburgh of the formation of the Third Regiment, Pennsylvania Reserve Defense Corps. The regiment will have companies at various points in western Pennsylvania.

Company H will include men from Lawrence, Beaver, Butler and Mercer counties with the headquarters of the company in the Joseph V. Cunningham Armory in New Castle. The age limits for volunteers for service in the defense corps is from 21 to 50.

The purpose of the defense corps is to take over the duties of the National Guard while the guardsmen are in camp. When they return the Defense Corps will be disbanded.

Company H will be headed by a captain, a first and second lieutenant and the enlisted personnel will number 68 men drawn from the four counties. The state will equip and uniform the men but there will be no compensation for the service, save when and if the corps is called into service.
The personnel of the company will be selected with care. Men who are chosen must be physically fit, and must be able to handle firearms properly. Many applications for service have already been received by Col. Woodside.
Men who desire to enlist in Company H will have an opportunity to do so Friday night, May 9, when the commanding officer of the new company will be at the Joseph V. Cunningham Armory in New Castle at eight o'clock.

House Prepares To Pass Bill Allowing Seizure Of Ships

WASHINGTON, May 7.—With war talk resounding in the national capital, the house today prepared to pass the bill empowering President Roosevelt to requisition at least 83 foreign merchant ships and turn them over to Great Britain.

Despite charges of foes that the bill is another long step toward war, house leaders said that the measure will be passed by a wide margin.
Rep. Culin (R) N. Y., declared that rejection of his amendment, which would have prohibited the president from transferring 30 seized Italian and German ships to Great Britain, is a strong indication that congress is resigned to war.

Most Unneutral Act
"This is, legally, the most unneutral act yet approved in congress," he said. "The attitude of members is that although they say they will not vote for war they are already in the war."

LONDON, May 7.—British and German fighting planes were locked in a series of deadly combats over the English Channel coast today as the Nazis unleashed a new daylight air assault against Britain.

An official air ministry announcement said German raiders since dawn had attempted to penetrate the southeast coast, where they were engaged by British spitfires.

Many air combats ensued, the communiqué stated, adding four Messerschmitts and one Spitfire were shot down.
(Editor's Note: A German communiqué asserted six British planes were shot down and that no German planes were lost.)

During the morning a formation of R. A. F. bombers, escorted by fighters, was seen roaring over the French coast, apparently bent on a major raid against axis objectives. Visibility was perfect as the British bombers sped toward their prey.

Scotland Is Hammered
During the night, while German planes hammered targets in Scotland and Britain, British bombers heavily attacked the great German seaport of Hamburg, the docks at German-occupied Le Havre on the French coast and other targets.

The air ministry communiqué said:
"A large force of R. A. F. bombers attacked Hamburg, where large fires broke out."

"The docks at Le Havre and objectives along the coasts of enemy-occupied territory were attacked."
"In daylight raids yesterday a supply ship of 5,000 tons was hit off the Frisian islands and is considered to have been sunk."

"A patrol vessel was sunk and another was set on fire during patrols off the Dutch and German coasts."

HARRISBURG, May 7.—The six remaining special emergency taxes will be reported out of House committee for re-enactment next week, along with "many important appropriation bills," House Majority Leader Leo A. Achtemman disclosed today.

The gasoline and cigarette taxes, the first of the emergency taxes to be reported out, will be passed by the House today or tomorrow, said Achtemman, and forwarded to the Senate for concurrence. They are estimated to bring in $56,418,000 during the next biennium.

Report Demonstrations In Front Of British Consulate At Damascus

By EARL REEVES

LONDON, May 7.—British forces in Iraq improved their military positions today and assumed control of an important oil pipe line post, but a dangerous situation appeared to be brewing in French-mandated Syria.

Conflicting reports and announcements reached London as warfare and strife spread in the Near East, newest theatre of the European war.
First a Paris radio broadcast heard in London said 50,000 Arab demonstrators in Syria had "destroyed" the British consulate at Damascus. This broadcast was accompanied by reports that the situation in Syria was growing worse and that French authorities were "helpless" against Arab agitators.

British Report
A few minutes later authoritative British quarters declared a "small band of hoodlums" demonstrated in front of the British Damascus consulate, throwing stones and breaking windows.

These circles said no serious damage or casualties had been inflicted and that police had dispersed the demonstrators within a few minutes.

Early this afternoon the "Free French" news agency reported from Jerusalem that tension persisted in Syria and that leaders of the religious communities there issued a common appeal to the populace to remain calm.

As a "measure of appeasement," this report said, the French governor, Gen. Henri Dentz, released prisoners held at Beirut for inciting workers to go on strike.
The agency added that a census of all foreigners in Syria will be taken in the near future.

Germans Report Clashes
EDITOR'S NOTE: A German news agency (DNB) dispatch from Beirut, quoting the Baghdad radio, said clashes had occurred between Arabs and British troops in Palestine. The same report claimed there study by Democratic committees since first presented in February, will probably be cleared up the following week, said Achtemman. Legislative leaders are still hopeful of adjourning sine die by the end of this month.

Decision on Tax Reduction
A decision will also be reached next week by the Democrats on whether there is to be any reduction of taxes at the present session, Achtemman stated. The decision is contingent upon surplus revenue obtained from present taxes, notably the corporate net income tax, a final tabulation of whose April 15 returns is still awaited.

The eight emergency taxes are being re-enacted for the third success. (Continued On Page Two)

Emphasis In House, Debate On Role U. S. Will Play In British Aid

By MERRILL MUELLER

LONDON, May 7.—Deaf to a bitter criticism by World War Premier David Lloyd George, the house of commons today overwhelmingly voted confidence in Prime Minister Winston Churchill and his policies.

The house gave its approval to the Churchill regime by the vote of 447 to 3 at the conclusion of a two-day debate featured by emphasis upon the role the United States is playing in behalf of a British victory.

Strictly speaking, Lloyd George said, Britain cannot even call the United States an ally.

Emphasizes Need
Churchill himself emphasized the increasing need of "all-out" American aid.

"We need a great deal more help from the United States and I expect we shall get it," he said.
"We have no need to fear the tempest. Let it roar and let it rage. We shall come through."

Lloyd George criticized the government for withholding full details of war events.
"We have had our fourth great defeat and retreat," he said.
"We have suffered severe wounds."

Drought Broken By Rains Today

First Precipitation In Two Weeks Ends Worst Spring Drought In Years

One of the worst dry spells ever noticed at this period of the year was finally broken by showers last night and this morning, and although no considerable amount of rain had fallen by mid-morning, indications pointed to more being in the offing, and local residents were hopeful that enough would arrive later to give Mother Earth a good drenching.

Only 0.3 inches of precipitation was recorded in last evening's shower, hardly more than enough to lay the dust. A good general rain for several days is needed to make up for the lack of precipitation which has been noted during March and April.

The last rain locally was noted on April 22 when only a shower occurred. There was only three-quarters of an inch of precipitation all of last month.

There are 17 Yugoslavian vessels in American ports at the present time. Others are in South American waters.

German Aliens Taken Into Custody

Roundup Is Made In New York City

Most Of 130 Men In Custody Said To Be Seamen Stranded In U. S.

PROBABLY WILL BE KEPT IN U. S. CAMPS

(International News Service) NEW YORK, May 7.—Federal immigration inspectors, aided by large squads of city detectives, early today launched a roundup of German aliens in New York City.

Apparently acting on orders direct from Washington, the agents, armed with arrest warrants, descended on homes, boarding houses, hotels, and all-night restaurants.

The raids suddenly began at 4 a. m. and by 6 a. m. it was reported that more than 130 men were in custody. Most of them were said to be seamen.

The "wanted" aliens were ordered out of their beds, bundled out of restaurants, taken to nearby police stations.

Leaders of the squad of 75 federal immigration inspectors, who conducted the roundup, said similar arrests were being made in other cities throughout the nation.

To Concentration Camps

Asked what was to become of the aliens, one inspector declared: "They will all be taken to Ellis Island (immigration headquarters for the port of New York) later today, and then to a western or mid-western concentration camp."

When asked where there was a concentration camp in the United States, the inspector turned away and declined to answer further questions.

Captain Conrad Rothengast and Deputy Inspector Patrick Kenney commanded the Manhattan detail of New York police aiding the federal agents.

They said they understood the majority of Germans are former employees on American oil tankers who have been "let go" since the outbreak of war.

The Nazi seamen, it was stated, have been unable to get back to Germany since their discharge by the oil companies.

resigned to war and fully expect it." Not since the European war broke out has there been so much discussion of American participation in war as marked debate on the ship seizure bill.

"Day by day we are moving closer to fighting," said Rep. Summers (D) Texas. "Moving as we are toward the supreme crisis—and there's no doubt about it—along with the possibility we may be left the only nation on our side facing the greatest military machine that ever existed, we must be unified, and I am sure when and if the crisis comes the patriots of America and of congress will stand united."

Rep. Bland (D) Va., chairman of the merchant marine committee, in charge of the bill, construed the house attitude on the measure as a reaffirmation of the lease-lend policy. He said he believed the president would try to avoid war.

Follows Policy "We adopted a policy of aid to Great Britain in the lease-lend bill and this bill follows that policy," he continued. "I expected it to be passed by a greater vote than that by which the lease-lend bill was passed."

Rep. Van Zandt (R) Pa., planned to make a fight for an amendment to preserve American labor and safety laws when the foreign-flag ships are taken over.

Under terms of the bill, he said, the secretary of commerce is given power to waive these laws. Administration leaders said that this is necessary because crew quarters, safety devices and engines on many of the foreign-flag ships do not meet requirements of American law.

Governor James estimated that they will bring in $184,575,500 in revenue during the 1941-43 biennium, which opens June 1. The taxes were originally enacted to provide funds for public relief.

Both the House and Senate were expected to have light sessions today, due to the scheduled public meeting of the state defense council, at which Federal Security Administrator Paul V. were indications of rebellion in Transjordan, which like Palestine is a British mandate.

Meanwhile, British authorities in London were elated over the latest reports regarding military developments in Iraq.

An official British announcement indicated the possibility that Iraqi forces may have abandoned their offensive against the R. A. F. base at Habbaniyah, which had been beleaguered since the hostilities began.

This declaration said that the British position at Habbaniyah was "much easier." It added that British patrols during the night found Iraqi positions at the edge of the escarpment surrounding the air base no longer manned by enemy forces.

It was believed these positions had been abandoned as a result of repeated British bombing assaults, which previously put Iraqi artillery batteries out of action.

Alarming Reports

Budapest, May 7.—Reports that the Iraqi-British hostilities in Iraq may plunge the entire Near East into flaming strife flooded into Budapest today.

One report said of German plans to withdraw her troops from Greece for use elsewhere. Another told of formation of an Iraqi government at Basra as a rival of the Rashid Ali Beg Gailani regime at Baghdad.

Still another report said a famous anti-British Arab chieftain is organizing Bedouin tribes for war against the British.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Baghdad radio, according to a DNB (German) dispatch from Beirut, announced clashes in Palestine between Arabs and British troops.

(In addition, said DNB, there were indications of rebellion in British-mandated Transjordan, where fighting was said to have occurred.)

TRIAL BALLOON FOR WAR SAYS SENATOR NYE

Secretary of State Hull and Secretary of Navy Knox having contained the theme that this country must take more belligerent steps if the Axis powers are to be defeated. As in the case of the Knox and Hull speeches, Stimson submitted his utterances to President Roosevelt before delivering them.

In what was admittedly the most outspoken statement to date from the cabinet inner circle, Stimson declared that Britain's life-line was being threatened, that all this country has done so far "is not sufficient," and asked what we are going to do about it?

"While we are struggling to build up an uncompleted army and an uncompleted air force, we have at our hands a naval instrument prepared and ready for just such an emergency," he declared.

"Can Turn Tide"

"Right now, at this cross roads of history, it is within our power, if we choose to use that instrument, to turn the tide of darkness back from the Atlantic world, and while it is held in check, to gain the means which will preclude it forever from attaining its fell purpose."

"If today that navy should make secure the seas for delivery of our munitions to Great Britain, it will render as great a service to our own country and to the preservation of American freedom as it has ever rendered in all its glorious history."

Presidential Secretary Stephen T. Early, asked whether Stimson's speech had the approval of the president, said: "You may assume that Secretary Stimson talked to the president about the speech."

Immediate Repercussions

The speech had immediate repercussions on Capitol Hill, where Sen. Nye (R) N. D., a non-interventionist leader termed it "a trial balloon for war."

"The organized forces for intervention will now flood official Washington with propaganda," he declared. "It is time for the unorganized forces opposing war to be heard from and puncture these trial balloons."

Sen. Hill (D) Ala., a convoy-advocate, however, said "we've got to insure delivery of our goods to Britain and using our navy is the only way I see to do it."

Rep. Vinson (D) Ga., chairman of the house naval affairs committee, who recently advocated convoys "if necessary," said "I agree with the secretary thoroughly."

Stimson For War

Sen. Taft (R) Ohio, declared the speech meaningless—"since Stimson's been for war right along anyway"—but other non-interventionists took a more alarmed view.

Rep. O'Connor (D) Mont., in commenting on the speech, said:

"It is now obvious that the war mongers are showing their teeth in earnest and openly advocating convoys which means shooting and war according to the president."

"It is time now for the American people to register their protest against this deliberate attempt to again embroil this country in all the ruinous consequences of Europe's centuries-old war."

Rep. Mundt (R) S. D., another non-interventionist, urged "the 80 per cent of the people who want to stay out of war to let themselves be heard in Washington if they want to avoid it."

"Our position at the moment is that we have practically no allies. The United States will not allow herself to be called an ally."

Even in 1918 she was only an associated power.

"At any rate, at present we have got to hold our positions until such a change is effected in reorientation of nations as to enable us to secure victory. Until that change, we must make the country and empire impregnable and able to resist siege."

"The most serious attack was upon our shipping. It is quite clear that President Roosevelt and Mr. Stimson (United States Secretary of War) Henry L. Stimson realized how grave is this position. The power of the U-boat in this war is more formidable than in the last war."

"I am not disparaging the United States, but we have got to hold out until our equipment is ready. It is most important not to exaggerate what we are going to get and how quickly we are going to get it."

Dark Passage

"There is a dark passage to cross, but there is America. Thank God for Stimson's speech urging use of the navy to ensure aid to Britain.

But the United States is not yet stripped for war."

"The United States can do more if it is going to enable us to catch up with and overtake Germany. America has got to do more than any indication I have heard up to the present. This is going to be a slow process. Meantime, we must recognize and reorganize our manpower."

There were verbal exchanges between Lloyd George and Churchill during the debate. These made it clear there is no immediate prospect of Lloyd George joining the government.

Mediterranean Outlook

Churchill had this to say of the Mediterranean outlook: "Loss of the Nile Valley, the Suez Canal and Malta would be the heaviest blows we could sustain. We are determined to fight for them with all the resources of the British empire. I have reason to believe we will be successful. Wavell (General Sir Archibald P. Wavell, commander-in-chief of the middle eastern armies), has at present nearly half a million men."

"We intend to defend Crete and Tobruk to the death without thought of retirement. With collapse of Italian resistance in Abyssinia and the Somaliland, our forces are rapidly proceeding northward. General Smuts (Premier Jan Christian Smuts of South Africa) has ordered the South African army to the Mediterranean shore."

BERTIE M'GUIRE TO WED W. SIEBANOLLER

The date for the approaching marriage of Miss Bertie McGuire to William Siebanoller was revealed as Saturday, June 14, when members of the Tu-No club gathered in a downtown tea room with Mrs. Paul Fabian as hostess Tuesday evening.

The news was cleverly told at lunch time on scrolls concealed inside of a dainty corsage which marked each guest's place, reading "Bertie and Bill, June 14."

Cards were the diversion, prizes going to Frances Cope and Bertie McGuire. Special guests were Marygratia Jackson and Claribel Cope.

Miss McGuire is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. McGuire of Smithfield street, and Mr. Siebanoller is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Siebanoller of Akron, O., formerly of this city.

TWO CONCERTS GIVEN AT THE CATHEDRAL

Mrs. D. Duff Scott, assisted by Miss Louise Kerr, soprano, a student at Westminster college, presented two delightful concerts last evening in the east lodge room of the Scottish Rite Cathedral.

In the first concert which began at 7:30, two piano numbers were played by Ann Shevman and Jane Throop; Ned Vidal and Karl Thayer; Susann Virtue and Virginia Lightner, who later played solos. Eugene English, Rosemary Turner, John Meehan, Elaine English, Jimmie Berry and Patsy Stitzinger were also heard in piano solos.

Leah Martin and Virginia Brinko opened the second concert with a two-piano number. Carolyn Cosel and Miriam Thomas were heard in two brilliant concertos by Mozart with Mrs. Scott playing the orchestral accompaniments on the second piano. The foregoing also presented solos together with the following: Marjorie Blew, Winifred Kisthart, Fay Coblentz, David Meehan, Bill Throop, Roberta Street, Gene Mackey and Eleanor Berry. Splendid technique and style were demonstrated in all the numbers.

Miss Kerr has a lovely coloratura soprano voice and she gave two beautiful groups of songs with artistic interpretation.

A capacity audience attended and their applause was an indication of their appreciation. The stage setting was lovely with an artistic arrangement of baskets of flowers which had been presented to Mrs. Scott.

Out of town guests were Prof. and Mrs. Alan B. Davis of New Wilmington, K. K. Stevens and Miss Marie Perigo of Pittsburgh, Mrs. Chris Truog and Mrs. Walter McCreary of Youngstown, O.

The receptionists were Mrs. H. W. Lightner, Mrs. Ted Martin, Mrs. A. W. Shevman, Mrs. Harding Thayer, Mrs. Glenn R. Throop, Mrs. Numa Vidal, Jr., Mrs. George Virtue, Miss Von Lewis, Robert B. Griffith, Harding H. Thayer, Numa Vidal, Jr., and Howard P. Meehan.

TRIUMPHS OF TREES

IT IS just about seven years since the first big dust storm of a great drought soiled the curtains of urban apartment dwellers from the plains to the Atlantic, and, for good measure, dirtied up the decks of ships 600 miles at sea.

Not long afterward grasshoppers from the parched plains rode hot winds into Chicago and "Eastern insurance men came out here to find their real estate," said a sour-faced garageman in Aberdeen, South Dakota.

Nevertheless, there were loud and long laughs when some tree cranks proposed to help nail down America by planting shelter belts of trees to stop the soil-laden winds. Some of the projects were couched in grandiloquent language, too, that invited ridicule.

Thousands of miles of shelter belts have been planted since 1935. There are 14,000 miles now growing on 22,000 farms. Less than 3 per cent of the belts planted last year survived. The great plains will grow trees. But for the buffalo they might have been forests.

Because one may drive a hundred miles and see nothing else, some people think that only the cottonwood can grow on the plains. As a matter of fact the trees and shrubs showing the highest rates of survival include also the green ash, American and Chinese elms, hackberry, black and honey locust, osage orange, native wild plum and chokecherry, caragana, Russian mulberry, desert willow, catalpa, black walnut, and cedar. That's enough wood to warm a cabinetmaker's heart.

The old cottonwood does seem to have the speed though, as some of the shelter-belt cottonwoods have already grown 40 feet tall.

SQUEEZING PORTUGAL

Portugal does not appear often in the news except as the one place left in Europe where from Lisbon, its capital, it is still possible for private citizens to embark for America. But that performance is not what is now chiefly occupying the attention and concern of the Portuguese. What is troubling them is that Germany is using Spain to bullyrag Portugal into an abandonment of its friendship for Great Britain.

From Napoleonic days Portugal, while small, has been an important partner of Britain in European politics. This enabled Portugal to perk up against its neighbors, especially Spain. If any of them got gay with Portugal the big boy friend would see to it.

Britain is now so busy on so many fronts that the Spanish government, living in terror of Hitler, has been tipped off by him to demand of the Portuguese avowed adherence to the axis. Every day the Franco papers in Spain are becoming more abusive in pursuance of this chore.

ANTI-AIRCRAFT GUNS

Overseas experience with the attacking plane by armies, navies, and civilian populations is having a repercussion in the defense program of the United States by turning emphasis upon the absolute necessity of greater provision of anti-aircraft guns.

Hanson Baldwin, an authority upon armament, says that the government is speeding up in the particular field of preparedness. Quick-firing weapons of high altitude range will not be limited to war vessels but will be placed on merchantmen also in event it is decided to arm them, and Army units outfitted with these guns will be established in eastern cities.

Baldwin says that thousands of these weapons are now on order, that thousands more soon will be on order, not only for the purpose of adequately arming the nation, but with the purpose as well of letting Britain, which is badly in need of these guns, have all that Uncle Sam can spare.

STRUGGLE FOR FOOD

Some idea of Europe's food woes is to be gleaned from Finland's heroic efforts to feed itself. A special government fishery commission has been appointed to triple the present catch. This will be difficult because Russia got the best fishing waters in the peace treaty.

The government is building 1,000 wood-gas generators for fishing boats formerly powered by gasoline. To encourage private fishing for family use, everybody is being given the right to fish in any Finnish waters except streams where salmon come up to spawn. The government is even providing the tackle and bait where necessary.

In addition to this the Finnish government is making a long extension of the usual 10-day open season for elk, of which there are an abundance. Schools are closing ten days earlier to get all hands, including city children, out to help with the spring planting. Youth organizations have completed plans for sending members out to pick berries, mushrooms, etc. Every available patch of ground is to be planted to potatoes and vegetables. What a temptation this will be to Hitler!

During the winter the Finnish people have been virtually on starvation rations. They are determined to be better prepared when another winter arrives.

Anyhow, we'll bet Hitler got a bouquet of flowers from Mussolini on his 52nd birthday.

Next year they threaten to tax our shirts off our backs. The New Deal may become the Nude Deal.

Remember the good old days when we had nothing greater to annoy us than a pair of squeaky shoes?

Women are said to outnumber the men in Europe and the present trend of events seems to be increasing the feminine majority.

Some high Washington officials have tentatively suggested reducing non-defense expenditures. Now they're talking.

Speaking of appeasement, one of our henpecked friends says he has been trying it at his house for twenty years and it seldom works.

Most of the fellows in this country who are anxious to fight are more than fifty years of age, but like Artemus Ward they would be willing to send their wife's relatives.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph.D.

LIKE FATHER, LIKE SON

AS parents bring up their children well, we not only make of them good citizens in the home and community and agreeable companions to live with in our family, but we also bring them up to become good wives and husbands, good mothers and fathers.

Please allow me to give a concrete example concerning a young father.

Phil grew up in a home where he was wanted, loved and understood. He learned in his early years the alphabet of citizenship, respect for the rights of others and regard for authority. He got some spankings in his early years though not many, by parents who planned and agreed upon the few things he would not be allowed to do without getting immediate punishment. Though he learned early to obey, he rarely was commanded. Also he learned to cooperate for excepting the few routines, he was not commanded to do things during his early years and seldom later. He was requested and allowed to choose in regard to these requests. When he was requested he really was requested and not commanded in disguise.

Childhood Training

Since his parents were human like all other parents, they were not perfect but they tried hard to do their best and won the growing lad's esteem, companionship and cooperation. As far as possible they treated him as a sacred personality, answering all his questions as well as they were able, listening attentively to what he had to say, never laughing at his queries and remarks. They read to him daily from the time he was about 18 months of age. The father spent considerable time with the boy and helped in his physical care, even during his infancy. The father also shared in the household chores and when the lad was old enough to help he also shared the chores. Playmates came to his home and the child was allowed to engage in the rough-and-tumble of the neighborhood.

That lad is a father now. His wife and he aim to work and plan together for good guidance of their own children, as his parents had done for him.

Phil helps his wife with the household chores. Since the first baby was a year of age, Phil has bathed and put her to bed. While he tends her she talks to her and has been reading to her daily for many months. Phil evinces her full insight and understanding of this two-year old and seems to enjoy every minute with her.

While the second baby was being expected, Phil took on still more of the care of the house and the tot. As soon as there were two, he proved an artist at reducing and preventing jealousy in the older one.

He has an appreciative wife. Both are skillful parents and they are boon companions. Phil has a full-time job. The time he spends helping in this lovely little family is leisure time, recreation as a rule, for he has a right philosophy and a series of good family habits, attitudes and ideals he acquired in his earlier years.

Fine young parents like these reassure me that by taking thought and practicing good skills at parenthood it is possible to see good results in succeeding generations.

Young parents who would like to gain some such understanding and skill as these two parents have might obtain some aid to these ends from my 15 pamphlets which cover most of the major problems a young parent meets with the baby and young child. By writing me at 235 East 45th Street, N. Y. City, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope, you may have a folder describing these pamphlets and telling you how and where to get them.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. What may one do to help the child who when asked or told to do something will set off only to return a little later to ask, "What did you say I was to do?"

A. After asking or commanding him to do something, have him repeat your instructions right away.

GOLFING PARSON'S DISCOVERY

Said the golfing parson sadly as he stood upon the tee:

"There's a grand, old, rousing motto that I have used in my sermons, have it framed upon my wall."

But for golfers, I've discovered, it's the worst advice of all.

'Look up! Lift up!' 'twas our fathers who passed down that counsel true.

But in golf it leads to madness, as I've learned, and so have you.

"Look up! Lift up!" 'tis a motto for the Christian heart and mind.

Meaning: see life's nobler purpose and be helpful and be kind.

Oh, I've taught it to the children and I've preached it to the old.

And I've given it out as prizes, done in letters, red and gold.

But I find I must discard it when at golf I come to play.

'Look up! Lift up!' Even bishops couldn't hit a ball that way!

"Look up! Lift up!" down the ages as a challenge it has rung.

It has called to higher service, by the millions, old and young.

'Look up! Lift up!' 'tis a saying meant the hearts of all to reach.

But in golf I've learned in anguish 'tis a way I wouldn't teach.

For of golfers' evil habits, it's the very worst of all.

'Look up! Lift up!' If you do so you will never hit the ball!"

I lived with my first wife for three years. She was a lady, she had fifteen hundred a year, and we used to give nice little dinner parties in our little red brick house in Kensington. She was a charming woman; she was a good mother, and she was a good wife. She was a good friend, and she was a good neighbor. She was a good person, and she was a good woman. She was a good mother, and she was a good wife. She was a good friend, and she was a good neighbor. She was a good person, and she was a good woman.

Question: Is it incorrect to keep photographs of one's family on display in the home? Just where is the proper place to hang them? Jean.

Answer: You should not maintain your living room, library, dining room, or any other room wherein you entertain guests—as a gallery for the display of likenesses of the members of your family. Of course, if you have a family miniature or other portrait that is of artistic value, by all means hang it as conspicuously as you wish.

A small photograph in a standing frame placed on a table or desk, is likewise ornamental. But since the living room, especially, is used to entertain strangers, as well as friends, it is in better taste to select for it pictures of an impersonal nature and confine your family portraits, photographs or otherwise to your den, boudoir or bedroom.

Question: I am going to be married during the latter part of May or the beginning of June. Do you think a blue woolen suit with a silk blouse appropriate for the ceremony in May and a white flannel suit for June? Cynthia.

Answer: I am afraid you will find wool very warm for the latter part of May. Why not choose an ensemble consisting of a figured dress (perhaps with a navy blue background and light figures) and a navy blue woolen coat to go over it. If the day is warm you will have your silk dress in which to be married, and the coat for travelling. A linen suit will be much more comfortable than flannel in June.

A young lieutenant, a middle-aged major and an elderly general were holding forth in the general's office. The topic of kissing was being discussed, especially as to whether kissing your wife was a pleasure or not.

The lieutenant said that with him it was 90 percent pleasure and 10 percent effort. The major allowed that it was 50-50 with him. The general admitted to 90 percent effort and 10 percent pleasure. The sergeant on duty began shuffling the papers on his desk, whereupon the general said: "Sergeant, what's your idea on this important matter?"

"Well, general," said the sergeant, "it can't be the way to say it is, or you'd have me do the work for you."

Senate Isolationists Want Test Made

Would Take War Out Of Congress' Hands

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Six senators are sponsoring the pending congressional resolution which, if adopted, will require a nationally popular affirmative vote before any American land army, naval or air force can be sent outside the western hemisphere or American possessions, such as, for instance, as the Philippines.

The plan somewhat resembles the one Representative Louis Ludlow of Indiana has been fighting for, for a long time. The Ludlow proposal, however, seeks to provide for a national referendum on the question of any American declaration of war.

The president can't declare war now. It takes congress to do so. Louis' aim is to prevent even the legislative body from going farther than to submit the issue to a popular vote.

Of course, the essential argument against either scheme is that considerable time is necessary to conduct a countrywide referendum, and that, in an emergency, there's unlikely to be any time to spare.

The objection also is advanced that the constitution vests the war-declaratory power in congress, that it's a power congress can't divest itself of without an amendment, voted by itself and ratified by the states—might slow procedure and maybe impossible to put through at all.

Presidential Power

And can the president be forbidden, by a mere act of congress, to employ our army, navy and air force as he thinks best? No, he can't declare war, but he can order our soldiers, warships and aviators to go wherever he wants them to go and to start shooting, without a declaration. Under the constitution he is unqualifiedly in their command-in-chief, and their job is to do exactly what he tells them to do. So it doesn't look as if his authority can be limited without a constitutional amendment. To be sure, we have a neutrality law, but its more than doubtful that the president can't constitutionally disregard it in a pinch.

True, if the president hasn't as many troops and ships and planes as he wants, congress can refuse to vote him any more, or it can refuse to vote him the money to finance the ones he's got. Nevertheless, if he starts an actual, though undeclared

Not for many weeks has there been anyone in Washington who denied this.

EVERY official of the army and navy concedes it. Every diplomat concurs. THE sources which usually reflect Presidential purposes and White House attitudes appear agreed that Mr. Roosevelt is about to take action of very great importance. It is variously described as "the most momentous decision of his career," the "most vital deliverance since he became President," "a speech which will thrill the nation."

IF all this means anything, it means that at least the President proposes to use the American navy to prevent the war material we are producing at such great cost for the British from being sent to the bottom of the sea by the Nazi submarines. In other words, we are going to insure delivery by convoying. If the hints and predictions which his advisers and friends have been putting into print and out on the air the last two days do not mean that, then they do not make sense.

NO one seems certain what method Mr. Roosevelt will adopt to make public his course; but, whatever vehicle he chooses the decision to convoy will not surprise those who have faced fully the facts of the submarine sinkings and clearly grasped the logic of our foreign policy as expressed in the Lend-Lease Act. To them, convoying has seemed inevitable since it became apparent that the British navy could not alone furnish adequate protection to the cargo ships. Once that fact was established—and it was established a good many weeks ago—there seemed to be no escape from the convoy step.

war, with the forces and cash already at his command, not many critics believe congress will have the nerve not to see him through.

At the same time, the six senators back of the referendum resolution are hollering for action on it. It's been tied up in the senate's foreign relations committee, of whose members a majority don't like it. The senate, though, are determined to pry it out, for a ballot by the whole chamber.

And that half a dozen are a pretty formidable scrappy group. It's interesting to analyze them.

The Six Senators

They're Senators Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota, Burton K. Wheeler of Montana, Arthur Capper of Kansas, Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin, D. Worth Clark of Idaho and Henrik Shipstead of Minnesota.

Partisanly, they're a mixture. Nye, Capper and Shipstead are Republicans. Shipstead, however, has been a Republican only since the last election. Previously to that he was a Farmer-Laborite. He flopped, saying the Farmer-Labor management had fallen into bad hands. Originally its policies were ultra-liberal. Henrik's views are yet.

Nye, another ultra-liberal, was star investigator of the causes of American participation in the last war. Following his quiz, he introduced his neutrality plan, to keep us out of the next one.

We were in a very pacific frame of mind then and Nye's scheme was enacted into law. It's been modified since, congress and the country having turned so sour on totalitarianism. Enough of it's let yet, though, to bother our total-aid-to-the-democracy folk. Senator Capper's an all-around a liberal as there is in congress, but a remarkably temperate one, and a pacifist 100 per cent.

Democrats Are Isolationists

Burt Wheeler and Worth Clark (don't confuse him with Bennett Champ of Missouri) are Democrats. I don't think it's too strong to say that Burt's early record was downright radical. And, my!—he's an isolationist. He led the anti-lease-campaign.

Although, as a Democrat, Wheeler might be expected to be pro-administration, the things he's said about its foreign policies are a caution to snakes. Worth Clark's a senator of only a couple of years' tenure. He hasn't had time to get into violent action yet, but he seems to have the makings of as good an isolationist as anybody.

Young Bob La Follette, as all of us know, is a Progressive. Not only is his own record isolationistic; he is isolationistic by heredity.

producing for England never will reach England. Already they are piled up high on the docks on this side because there are not available freighters to carry them and no destroyers to protect them if they were available.

UNDER such circumstances, it is inconceivable that we should not act to prevent the complete frustration of our production effort and avert what otherwise appears inescapable catastrophe. To accept supinely the futility which the submarine sinkings mean for us does not make sense. Either we have to move to stop them or we have to quit. A decision one way or the other is imperative. It is the belief of his friends that Mr. Roosevelt has now made his decision; that he will communicate it soon; that it means convoys. The question at once arises as to whether by active participation in the war, which this will mean, we can save the British.

NO one can be sure of that, but the thing of which we can be sure is that if we do not, as the New York Times says, "take our place in the line," England is through and we are left facing a hostile world in an unprecedented condition. The criticism of Mr. Roosevelt is that by evading this decision for so many weeks he has lost priceless time. But it has not been easy for him to act. One reason is that he has gone on record, no fewer than three times, against convoying. Another is that some of his strongest supporters in the legislature fight him—rather were—against convoying. In recent weeks the impossibility of sticking to his anti-convoys position has been strongly urged upon the President.

He has been told by friends, in and out of the Cabinet, that to do so means British collapse and the loss of the war. He has been told that if he will acquiesce in the American people with the full truth public sentiment will overwhelmingly sustain him in disregarding the self-imposed restrictions which nullify our effort and imperil both our ally and ourselves.

IT is a fact that the President is being prodded into action. It is a fact that the country is leading him, and not he leading the country. It is a fact that, incurably optimistic by nature, he has been clinging to the hope that the war could be won without our contributing anything beyond food, materials and moral support. Until recently there were many who had the same hope. Some still have, but their number has diminished; and, if his journalistic reflectors are to be believed, the President is no longer with them.

The grim realities of the situation have destroyed that hope. There is not much room to doubt it. We must either move forward or quit. We cannot continue to accept futility at so great a cost.

Rotarians Seeking To Elect McFate Governor At Kane On Thursday

New Castle Rotarians are counting heavily upon elevating one of their own distinguished members, J. Lee McFate, to the governorship of Rotary District 175 at the district's annual conference in Kane Thursday afternoon.

Into Kane Armory will file Rotarians and Rotary Anns from all of the 33 clubs in the district for sessions opening Thursday morning and culminating Friday afternoon.

Between 15 or 20 will be in the local delegation, headed by President S. Huston Rhoads. The club will have four voting delegates, President Rhoads, President-elect Clare B. Book, E. E. Seavy and Harold R. McCulloch.

The Rotary wives are to participate in social affairs arranged by ladies of the Kane club.

Whipped up months ago by his fellow Rotarians of the New Castle and surrounding clubs, the McFate candidacy won quick support from other clubs in this section. It was believed no opposition would arise at Kane, although other nominations could develop from the convention floor.

Loyalty Wins Admiration
Regardless of the conference outcome, McFate planned today to be in The Castleton Monday, May 12 for the regular Rotary luncheon meeting—for it will be his 1,000th consecutive Rotary meeting.

His outstanding attendance regularly was probably what brought him an invitation to address the main conference Thursday at 11 a. m. on "Rotary Attendance."

For years McFate was a candy wholesaler here, but recently he relinquished his business connections.

Merrill B. McDowell, of Bradford, president of the Barnsdall Printing Co. and officer in other firms, is the present district governor. He will preside at Kane.

Will Have Roles In Senior Play

David Davies Tom Middleton Lucy A. Rubert Lewis Micco

Lucy Ann Rubert plays opposite Tom Middleton, David Davies and Lewis Micco in the senior class play "Young April" to be presented this week in the auditorium of the senior high school. Tom Middleton is steady, reliable Brian Stanley scheduled to arrive; Lewis Micco is Bert Parsons, a good-looking poseur, really in love with himself, the kind of suitor who impresses the girls up to a point; David Davies as Stewart Miller is picked as the choicest of fering, until his mother shows that she is going to manage for her son beginning with the honeymoon. Getting Lucy Ann Rubert as Terry McIntyre settled in life is an important strand in the weaving and unravelling of the plot.

Asks For Probe Of Hospital Strike

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, May 7.—Investigation of the service strike at Pittsburgh's West Penn hospital was asked today in a resolution given to the House by Rep. J. P. Moran, Allegheny County Democrat.

House Speaker Elmer Kilroy was urged to appoint a five-man committee to investigate reasons for the walkout of service employees. Moran reminded the House that the hospital obtained a state appropriation.

He quoted from a Pittsburgh newspaper contending that services at the hospital were curtailed by the strike. "This controversy," said Moran, "appears to be continuing without any signs of parties involved reaching a settlement in the near future."

Moran's resolution will be referred to committee.

News Briefs From City Hall

Authorities are faced with delinquency by youth. Army Air Corps Requirements For Enlistment Changed

High School Education No Longer Necessary For Flying Service

Effective at once the regular army recruiting service announces that men who are not high school or trade school graduates or who do not have a knowledge of a trade or occupation, may enlist in the Army Air Corps providing they have the eighth grade education.

Those applying for enlistment must pass the army classification test with a score of 100 right answers out of a total of 150 questions. The questions are those usually covered in the eighth grade course of education and do not cover subjects or items that would not be understood by a person of average intelligence who has had the eighth grade education.

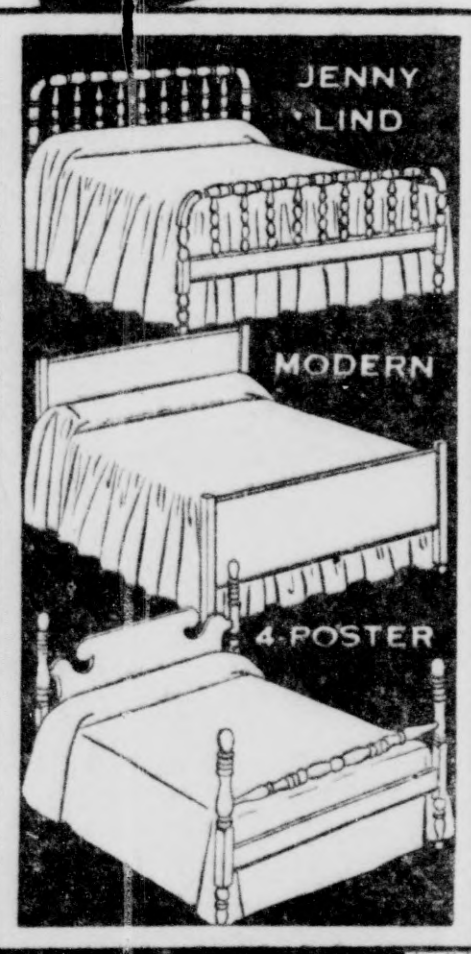

Complete information regarding this change in air corps requirements may be secured from the New Castle Army Recruiting office in the post office building.

DEMAND FOR EFFICIENCY!

That's Why Heavy Power Installations and Chrysler Cars Have Fluid Drive

"Immediate adaptation to variable power load"... that's how science describes the function of Fluid Drive.

To give gasoline engines the fluid flexibility of steam was long the goal of research engineering.

Efficiency and economy were demanded... for industry must count the last penny of cost.

Flexibility to meet all load conditions... scientific control of power slippage in place of the hit and miss power loss of individual driving... ability to pick up great loads easily and with ever-mounting power... these were the economic requirements of industry.

Fluid Drive was the answer! Today the identical scientific principle that drives your Chrysler Car is efficiently serving in huge Diesel powered ships... great double-deck busses... the heaviest hauling tractor-trucks...

giant industrial refrigeration plants.

Fluid Drive gives industry, as it gives the driver of a Chrysler Car, double economy... efficient application of power... plus longer life for the mechanism because of lessened wear and strain from jerks and jolts.

Now you can have this two-way efficiency in your own car—if it's a Chrysler—and in addition... ease, smoothness and silence possible only with genuine Fluid Drive.

New and old owners of Fluid Drive Chryslers now, for the third year, are reporting greater economy than from their former cars.

Why shift gears? Why stumble away when you can glide away? Chrysler Fluid Drive—jerk-free and jolt-free—is easier on both car and driver. The nearest Chrysler dealer cordially invites you to make a real test of Fluid Drive efficiency and ease.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright, 1941, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

MOTHERS CAN GO TOO FAR WITH THE TRAINING ROUTINE

A set routine is a very necessary thing in bringing up a child. It is good for the child and good for the parents. However, it must be tempered with common sense, for insistence in blind adherence to a schedule can work harm, for the baby isn't an automaton and neither is his mother or his nurse. Let me quote from a letter from a mother that gives point to this remark:

"My husband says I'm just raising our baby by a set of rules," she writes. "I have a routine for the baby and I follow it religiously."

From what she tells me I'm inclined to the opinion the husband is probably right. The mother would appear to have become so obsessed with the routine itself that she has lost sight of the aims and object of the routine—to make a healthy baby.

No one can set up a schedule for a child like you can for a railroad train. You can't say that he will rise at such an hour and such a minute every day, that he will have his breakfast at 8 o'clock sharp, that his bowels must move at 9, that he must empty his bladder at 11. You can't make a machine and a human, too. If you try you have a problem—a problem child—on your hands.

Students of baby behaviour have been trying for years to evolve a formula that will solve all the problems that crop up in a home where there is a baby, and these students will be the first ones to tell you that they have failed.

What they will tell you is that there are some new methods for helping the child to develop properly that are better than the old ones. But many of the old ones are still best.

Eating and sleeping routines are very necessary. The baby needs to have the hours of his feedings set and adhered to because that is good for his health. Besides that, it helps to give him a sense of security, a feeling that he is being looked after, that there isn't anything haphazard about his existence. But no one routine plan is suitable for all or most.

A few years ago, child specialists gave mothers routines for everything and insisted that they be adhered to rigidly. We aren't quite so enthusiastic about this complete regimentation of the child now. It is recognized now that the individual child's sleeping habits must be arranged in accordance with his own ideas as to mealtimes. For until he is a year or so old, the child's sleeping habits naturally depend on his hunger. He wakes when it is time to get fed and then he goes to sleep again.

There has also been a reaction with regard to the idea the child must have absolute quiet when sleeping. If the child is healthy he can sleep in the ordinary noises about the home.

There has been a relaxing, too, of beliefs concerning elimination habits. A few years ago it was thought that training of a child in bowel and bladder control should begin as soon as it is born. Today we rather think it is just as well to wait until the baby is a few months old before beginning this discipline.

There isn't any set of rules with which to govern all children to their best interests, any more than there is one set of rules suitable for all adults. Common sense and her own experience must still guide the mother to a great extent.

The Orion stars are said to be most massive and the hottest. Their surface temperatures are believed to be at least as high as 20,000 degrees, as compared with the surface temperature of 11,000 degrees for our sun.

It is said that John Philip Sousa's famous band was heard only once by his mother. It made her so nervous that she never went to hear it again.

New Type Bomb Is Being Made For Army Use

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, May 7.—A new type fragmentation bomb, touted as a "more effective weapon than any similar bomb heretofore produced," is now under large scale production at the E. G. Budd Manufacturing Company's plant in North Philadelphia.

Coincident with this public disclosure, 20 ranking officers and civilians identified with defense production made a tour of inspection through the bomb-producing division of the plant this afternoon.

Although details of the new lethal weapon are a closely guarded secret, officials said the number being turned out daily was high and that two shifts of workers were making the bombs. A third shift, placing the division on a 24-hour basis, will soon be started.

The giant Budd concern is known throughout the world for its stainless steel trains and automobile bodies.

Nazi Domination Of Italy Reflected

(International News Service)

ROME, May 7.—A "smash in the face" was demanded by Popolo D'Italia, Premier Mussolini's Milan newspaper, for all Italians predicting a sad future for Italy under Nazi domination.

Similar treatment was demanded for those exalting the German army above the Italian forces.

(Editor's Note: This was the first mention in the Italian press of the widespread belief of many English and American commentators that Italy now is completely under the Nazi yoke and doubt cast upon the valor of the Fascist fighting forces.)

The full Popolo D'Italia statement said: "All Italians should violently smash the faces of those of their compatriots who are technicians in perfidious underground defeatism, remaining tenaciously anti-Fascist and unwilling to understand the war. They are making our battle harder by exalting the German army, minimizing the strength of the Italian army and predicting a sad fate for Italy, dominated by an arrogant, invincible Germany."

The Human Side Of The News

(By EDWIN C. HILL)

Copyright 1940 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Here's a story about a farmer's daughter! At the age of sixteen, she went to Paris on a clothes-buying binge with her mother, and never did go back to the farm. She got a job as a modiste in a millinery shop, made good, went to the U. S. A., scraped up $200, started a shop of her own and became rich and famous as a designer of hats. That's

Miss Lilly Dache, awarded a prize of $1,000 by a New York department store for excellence in the design of hats—the most convincing evidence to date that women's hats are really premeditated.

Other $1,000 checks went to Maj. Alexander P. de Seversky for scheming a super-clipper of the air; Harold Van Doren of Toledo, O., for chastening and beautifying our world of gadgety, including the ice cube departments of refrigerators, and Glen Lukens of the University of South Carolina for his work in ceramics. That made an even split between two natives and two foreign-born.

President Henry W. Wriston, in the award ceremony, warned that "parochialism is the deadly enemy of art." Certainly art and utility are overlapping and reciprocal in these achievements and certainly were was nothing parochial either in the winning efforts or their recognition.

The other day we happened to be thumbing through a book by G. B. S. Haldane, the famous British biochemist. Mr. Haldane is a left-winger. My eye lit on a passage denouncing "reactionary scientists." It seemed unbelievable that a man of high scientific attainments, which Mr. Haldane is, could conceive of a scientist as being either reactionary or liberal, as a scientist, it is a preposterous suggestion.

A scientist must see what he sees and know what he knows. Here is a fatal hardening of the free spirit of science into dogma. And it was not so long since that the head of the Nazi Academy of Science promised to drive out the "debased Jewish atom" of Albert Einstein and restore to the Fatherland an untainted Aryan atom. In those two instances, right and left, you box the compass of the decline of the age of reason.

But here our newspaper reminds us almost every day, that the light of learning still burns on our shores, no matter what darkness beyond the seas it burned during the Dark Ages. With all the blight of war, poverty and pestilence, through long centuries, there were wandering scholars, veritable germ-carriers of hopeful ideas, on down to the age of Erasmus and his humanism, which lit up Europe, along with the Renaissance.

Today it is unmistakably true that, in many aspects, Europe has sunk below the level of those Dark Ages. Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick writes in his recent annual review of the activities of the Rockefeller Foundation:

"In the shadows that are deepening over Europe, the lights of learning are fading one by one. The conception of knowledge as an international responsibility has vanished. The free flow of ideas across boundary lines, between laboratories and universities has dried up. Everywhere the exigencies of the war have erased the possibility of intellectual and cultural life as that term was understood a few years ago."

So when a New York department store keeps a light in the window and honors creative men and women we think they're defenders of the faith.

There is a millenium of world civilization behind this gesture in honor of the creative spirit, casually reported and no doubt soon forgotten. Less than 1,000 men, in all the history of the world, contributed to the basic processes which made today's technology possible, including

Major de Seversky's great aeroplanes and Mr. Van Doren's smaller miracle-workers, which serve our daily comfort and convenience. But these 1,000 men were free men, working in a free flux of human intercourse and civilization; they were men free to come and go, free to "question nature in the language of experiment," free to pass on their findings to others. That is how what we now dubiously call civilization came about. It is indeed, civilization, so far as free artists and scientists are concerned. There is none of the blood guilt and horror of the world today.

The Panama canal was opened in 1914, but its official opening did not take place until 1920. The delay was caused by slides which interfered with traffic, as well as by the first World War, which reduced the number of vessels desirous of passing through.

New Developments In Near East Reminiscent Of "Lawrence Of Arabia"

By EARL REEVES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, May 7.—Behind the fragmentary news dispatches from the Near East, signs appeared today of the development of another "Lawrence of Arabia" drama reminiscent of World War days.

But now instead of one Thomas Edward Lawrence who organized the Arab revolt to help the British against the Turks, there are many "Lawrences." They are the famous Meharistes, the members of the French desert camel patrol, many of whom have deserted to the "free French" forces of Gen. Charles De Gaulle to help the British.

Ranged against them is the so-called "Pan Arab" movement, organized, inspired and controlled from Berlin under the leadership of the former Arab Mufti of Jerusalem. Constant Nazi propaganda fans the flames of the "Pan Arab" movement against England.

Centered in French-mandated Syria, now infested with Nazi "tourists," the "Pan Arab" movement attempts to inspire widespread uprisings among the Arab populations.

But reliable French sources in London now tell of a much wider pro-British movement organized and inspired by the Meharistes.

Some of the Meharistes still in Algeria are under control of the Vichy government although many have deserted to the flag of General De Gaulle. In more remote parts of French Morocco and Central East Africa, the Meharistes have formed swift mobile units to aid the De Gaulle forces.

The success of the Meharistes in peace-time patrol of the far-flung outposts of the vast French empire was based on the fullest comprehension of the habits, customs and psychological make-up of the desert Arabs. The Meharistes as a result won the greatest respect and confidence of these natives.

French officers, trained in the "Lawrence of Arabia" tradition, became successful undercover agents for General De Gaulle in many areas. Their most recent successes have been in winning over the natives in French Somaliland where the railroad to Addis Ababa begins at Jibuti.

The Meharistes also have been active secretly in Syria, inducing the Arab population to block German inspired moves for revolt against the British.

Recently one of the most famous officers of the Meharistes, Commandant Brosset, speaking over the British Broadcasting Corporation radio, paid glowing tribute to the Meharistes who fell helping the British in Libya.

He called upon all Meharistes everywhere to "rally to the cause of freedom."

There seems to be a natural conviction in French circles that the Nazi propaganda attempt to win over the Arabs is clumsy and will fail.

On the other hand, they feel that the new generation of French-born "Lawrences" will attain their most important, immediate objective, which is to prevent the use of Syria by the Nazis as a jumping-off place for the conquest of Suez and Egypt.

AROUND CITY HALL

City council has directed city tax officials to accept payments of taxes in conformity with the tax abatement act of 1941, signed recently by Governor Arthur James.

Charles Edmunds has been issued a permit to remodel at 102 West Long avenue for storehouse purposes, according to Neil Williams, city bureau of building.

Because of an overflow of work in the city solicitor's office, Regina Morris has been re-employed, likewise Joseph Barbarowicz, at wages of $60 and $75 monthly, respectively. They are temporary city hall employees.

DOCTORS WARN FOLKS WHO ARE CONSTIPATED—

IT IS SAID constipation causes many human discomforts—headaches, lack of energy and mental dullness being but a few. BUT DON'T WORRY—

For years a noted Ohio Doctor, Dr. F. M. Edwards, successfully treated scores of patients for constipation with his famous Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—now sold by druggists everywhere.

Olive Tablets, being purely vegetable, are wonderful. They not only gently but thoroughly cleanse the bowels but ALSO assist liver bile flow to help digest fatty foods. Test their goodness TONIGHT without fail! 15c, 30c, 60c.

I'm "sold" on Berkshire Stockings, keen about the way they look, fit and wear. And they're always so uniform in quality. Why don't you try them?

Bicycle Laws To Be Enforced

Police Chief Says Police Officers To Demand Heed For City Safety

It is far better for a policeman to order a bicyclist who violates a safety rule to appear at police headquarters than for the policeman to condone the lack of safe-riding and a few minutes later hear of a serious crash, possibly a death. Chief Willis G. McMullen so spoke today in declaring that all traffic regulations must be obeyed by bicyclists.

Bicycles must be in good condition and equipped with a bell at day, front light and rear danger marker at night. It is contrary to law to ride on a sidewalk and two on a bicycle is strictly forbidden, he warned.

Bicyclists must keep to their lane of traffic and must not "cut in and out" of auto lines and no bicyclist shall practice riding without his hands or acrobatics on public streets, said the chief.

Titan Trackers Defeat Prexies

Jim Edwards Is Westminster Star In 66 To 65 Win Over W. & J. On Tuesday

FIRST DEFEAT FOR PRESIDENTS

Jim Edwards Westminster college distance runner had a very busy afternoon at Washington, Pa., on Tuesday, winning the mile relay in the anchor spot by less than a stride to give the Titans a 66 to 65 victory, and to cause the first W. & J. defeat of the season. It was the second win for the Titans in three starts this season.

Having previously competed in the mile where he finished second and the two mile where he finished second also, Edwards was given a 15-yard lead by his team-mates in the final event, the mile relay, and when Frank Caughey of the Prexies managed to overtake Edwards, Titan cause seemed to be lost, but by a final rally of speed Edwards, as said, by less than a stride in one of those photo-finishes, gave the Titans the victory.

Goodwin High Scorer
Tom Goodwin of the W. & J. team was the high point man with 11½ points by firsts in the two hurdle events and a tie for third in the high jump.

Christy took first for the Titans in the 440-yard dash, running a beautiful race, while Findley also ran a great race to take the 880-yard run. Miller pole-vaulted to a first for the Westminster team in the big-stick event, and was the head man in the high jump event, being also the high point getter for the Titans with 10 points. DeMoise easily hurled the javelin a distance of 163 feet 11 inches for a first place. The summaries:

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

Buddy Knox has been selected as Billy Conn's opponent for May 27 in Pittsburgh, and Billy should win in a cake-walk. Fritz Zivic and Red Rochrane will fight May 26 in Newark, N. J. Billy Soose probably will win the middleweight title from Ken Overlin Friday night in New York, and one New York writer believes that when Fritz Zivic and Al Davies meet again in New York the bout may gross $200,000 because of the interest in their feud. Davis was disqualified and suspended for reported fouling in the first bout.

W. & J. golfers vanquished Grove City college, 7 to 2. . . In tennis, Grove City beat Duquesne. In track, Carnegie Tech won from Bethany, 67½ to 58½, and Westminster won by one point, 66 to 65, over W. & J.

Hank Greenberg is scheduled to enter selective service today. . . Brooklyn has lured Billy Herman from the Cubs. The Dodgers paid $50,000 and also a young outfielder, Charlie Gilbert. Then in an extra deal the Cubs bought from the Dodgers' farm, Montreal, infielder Johnny Hudson, for $25,000.

All contracts must be turned into the hands of Secretary Donovan tonight, or if not, by 2:30 o'clock at The News office on Thursday afternoon. No contracts will be accepted after the designated time.

Eight teams are ready to start the 1941 season, the fifth for the organized league here. Michael 'Jake' Babovsky, treasurer of the league, stated today that all teams have entered their franchise money.

The teams are all anxious to get under way. The Lawrence Indies with added strength will be the defending champions. All of the teams have new faces this season. West Pittsburgh having laced Bessemer will be out there to try and take the Indies this summer.

Revolver Club Meets Tonight
The New Castle Sportsmen's Revolver club will have an important meeting tonight at the Cathedral range at 7:30 o'clock. It was announced by Secretary Charles Phipps.

Matters of interest for every member of the club will be taken up for discussion following the practice shoot. The club will very shortly move to its outdoor range, off the Graceland cemetery road, it was reported. The outdoor range will be lighted for night shooting.

New Castle High Defeats Butler

By Margin Of One Point 64 To 63 New Castle Takes Track Meet At Butler

PAROU'S JAVELIN PROVIDES POINTS

When Tommy Parou tossed the javelin wand 147 feet 2 inches to beat the Butler star Joe Gladis just as the sun was going down yesterday afternoon at Butler, New Castle had won another track meet, and by the slimmest of margins 64 to 63. The New Castle team as a whole performed very brilliant, and by taking both the half-mile and mile relay events, sort of off-set the work of this man Pete Sawhook who was just about the whole Butler track team, winning the 100, 220, and 440 dashes to carry off high individual honors. Next to Sawhook came Joe Gladis with 13 points, by firsts in the shot put, discus and second in the javelin.

Mitchell-Paradise Star
Two New Castle sophomores turned in brilliant work yesterday. Mitchell running a fine race to finish second to Butler's Dufford, and Bill Paradise showing a fine pair of heels to the Butler boys in the 880 yard run, with Clark of New Castle finishing second. Hammond gave New Castle a first in the low hurdles, with Cooper finishing third. Cooper took the high hurdles with ease.

The running of the entire New Castle relay teams was very nice to watch, with Currie, Stewart and Don Young turning in nice performances. New Castle took but seven first, out of the fifteen events. New Castle had good second and third finishes.

New Castle will now concentrate on the W. F. I. A. L. events at the Pitt stadium on May 17.

Mile Run—Dufford, Butler; first; Mitchell, New Castle, second; Clark, New Castle, third. Time—4 minutes 49 7-10 seconds.

800-Yard Relay—New Castle, first (Haycock, Currie, Eakin, Stewart). Time—1 minute 38 4-10 seconds.

SOOSE FAVORED TO WIN FRIDAY

Experts Pick Farrell Boy To Defeat Middleweight Champion Ken Overlin

By LAWTON CARVER
(International News Service Sports Writer)
NEW YORK, May 7.—Billy Soose, 7 to 5 favorite today to annex Ken Overlin's New York commission world middleweight championship on Friday night in the first of the thoroughly muddled 160-pound division. Winner over Overlin in a non-title bout last July, Soose will enter the ring at even longer odds than 7 to 5, some observers insisted as the pro and con lines began to form.

In any case, plans again have been started insofar as possible to get the winner against Tony Zale of Chicago, the N. B. A. title-holder, to establish a generally recognized champion. This phase of this particular encounter has not gone beyond the conversational stage, but will be muddled over back and forth until finally we may wind up with one champion instead of two.

Having whipped both Overlin and Zale, Soose looks like the next undisputed title-holder if he can whip Overlin and the Zale match can be made. There must be some doubt on both counts.

Both Soose and Overlin passed a boxing commission examination yesterday, posted their forfeits and declared themselves frenziedly eager to have at each other as scheduled in the first fight we've had in Madison Square Garden in several weeks. The result of the holiday will be a near-capacity crowd.

The fight will be Conn's first in his home town since September 25, 1939, when he defended his light heavyweight title successfully against Mello Bettina, of Beacon, N. Y.

Supporting the main event will be Harry Bobo, of Pittsburgh, a heavyweight KO artist, and Lee Savold, of Dayton, O.

BOWLERS TO DINE
City and Industrial bowling leagues will banquet tonight in the Loyal Order of Moose banquet hall.

Art McCormick, the ex-Ben Franklin junior high school master strategist and currently coach at Asplund High, was selected as third vice president.

Captain Roger W. Rowland and Ray Caruthers were among the New Castleties who watched Whirlaway walk away with the Kentucky Derby last Saturday. . . Hubert L. Wagner, New Castle field club manager, picked the Derby winner, Yesterday, the handsome Wagner received a $29 check sent by Caruthers who slapped the dough across the line for Wagner.

New Castle Rifle Club Gets Trophy

For Fifth Straight Year New Castle Rifle Club Captures Penn-Ohio League

RANGE IS OPEN THURSDAY NIGHTS

The New Castle rifle club members are being congratulated on all sides today, and rightfully so; they have just completed winning the Penn-Ohio rifle league championship for the fifth consecutive year. A handsome trophy, donated to the league by R. A. Helwig of McDonald, O. in 1936, will be retained by the locals.

No other team has ever been able to engrave its name on the Helwig trophy cup. There is also a trophy given the high team average and New Castle won that also. Both trophies will be displayed at a downtown store in the near future. New Castle's team average was slightly over 954.5, managing to nose out the McDonald team in this event also. McDonald had the trophy last year for the high team average.

Mowry Clinches Victory
It was the eagle-eyed Arden Mowry of Greenville, who shoots with the New Castle team, that gave the locals their victory at the East Palestine range in the championship shoot-off with McDonald. The Mercer countian was one of the last men to shoot and he proceeded with accurate aim to bang out a 195 string out of a possible 200 to give New Castle the points they needed.

The New Castle rifle club officers are as follows: President, Leo W. Hill; vice-president, George Finley; range officer, Wally Bowers; secretary and treasurer, Ray Hammond. The officers deserve a big hand for their fine guidance of the club this past season. The club was handicapped somewhat this year by their leading shooters working night turns on various occasions.

The club will have shoots every Thursday night until the outdoor range is ready for occupancy. The government qualification shooting out-of-doors will be done at the Waddington farm range near East Brook starting the first Saturday in June.

Senators Halt Indian's Streak

After Winning 11 Straight Indians Falter, Greenberg Goes To Army, Hits Two Homers

PIRATES BEATEN BY DAFFY DODGERS

By PAT ROBINSON
(International News Service Sports Writer)
NEW YORK, May 7.—Well, Hank Greenberg certainly left them smiling as he said good-bye, didn't he?

The big boy from the Bronx capped a glorious baseball career by hitting his first and second home runs of the year in successive innings against the Yanks yesterday and each time Bruce Campbell—the gamest guy in baseball—immediately followed suit.

The results was a 7-4 shelling for the Yanks who move into Cleveland today to find out if the Indians are as good as advertised while Greenberg moves into the army to do his bit for Uncle Sam.

Indians Halted
Yes, old Hank left 'em smiling but we wonder how long they'll keep on smiling for it seems unlikely that the Tigers can stay up there without the power of Hank's war club. It is the belief in this corner that no team can lose a Greenberg and win a pennant.

Meanwhile, the Indians were finally cooled off by Dutch Leonard of the Senators after the American League pace-setters had run their winning streak through eleven straight games. Bagby dropped a 5-3 decision and now the Indians await the start of a new streak behind the southpaw pitching of Al Minter and Al Smith. If they can set back the Yanks as handily as they have the rest of the league, they will be overwhelming favorites to win the flag they should have won last year.

The other American League games were rained out but there were some events of more than passing interest in the National League. For one thing, the Dodgers added both power and steadiness at the one spot they were weak—second base—through the acquisition of Billy Herman from the Cubs and now must be rated at least an even money bet against those amazing Cardinals. Billy celebrated his debut in (Continued On Page Seventeen)

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

Poison ivy is a climber vine which annoys many persons. It grows over trees, fences, walls, rocks and ground. Its poisonous sap comes directly from its crushed leaves or stem. Or indirectly from garden tools or gloves. Poison ivy may spread rapidly from face or arms. Burning and itching soon indicate its presence. There follows a red, weeping rash, both painful and disfiguring. In most cases poison ivy does not give serious results. Scratching or rubbing only spreads the rash. Some persons are not affected seriously. Others have prolonged and severe attacks. Beware the three-lobed leaves of poison ivy.

YOU know that little gal that came to our house a little over a year ago sure keeps her folks on the run. . . And her talking, she must be some kind of a foreigner. . . we can't quite understand what her jibbering is all about. However we are fortunate in one respect. . . a little girl next door, just a year or so older says she can tell what is being said. They stand and jabber back and forth for hours. . . Youth sure is wonderful.

Don't forget the classified ads. . . they are still working for you are low cost per word. . . and thousands of people read your words.

THE Local Chapter of the American Red Cross as you know are in the sewing for relief business. . . the articles that are made here are sent to war-torn Europe. . . now a great many ladies have volunteered their services but the lack of sewing machines is the "bottle neck". If anyone has a machine that they could loan the Red Cross would they please call 5084 now. Your support in this manner will greatly be appreciated.

Ralph Davis, Scout Commissioner is sponsoring a drive against "tent caterpillars". . . Each Scout is supposed to destroy 100 of these "tents". . . not by fire, but by hand or a stick. After the scout has fulfilled his job he will then report back to his Scout Master and he will in turn turn in the report to the main office where the Commissioner will total the report and then we will know just how many boys did their job. This is a grand idea and one that is not difficult. . . we know the Scouts will get out and within a few days they will be saving to each other. . . I have my 100 and some will even be "uping" the number. . . so until we receive our first report. . . Good bye Mr. Tent Caterpillar.

Eleven Fliers From U.S. Lost

Were Aboard Ship Sunk In Atlantic Recently It Is Announced

ENGAGED IN FLYING
BOMBERS TO BRITAIN

(International News Service)
OTTAWA, Ont., May 7.—A score of words spoken by the Canadian government late Tuesday brought the tragedy of the European war to American homes—11 United States aviators engaged to fly American-made bombers to Great Britain lost their lives with 111 others in a recent ship sinking.

The government gave no indication of when or where the sea tragedy attributed to "enemy action" occurred or on what boat the fliers were traveling.

Thirty-five persons, eight of whom suffered from exposure and various injuries, were rescued and apparently have been taken safely to England.

The 11 American dead, as announced by the government, are:
R. D. Fordyce, nearest relative,
uncle, J. H. Finch, 6137 Kimbark avenue, Chicago.

R. A. Lowell, mother, Mrs. L. Lowell, 4414 1/2 Colorado avenue, Chickasha, Oklahoma.

K. P. Wright, uncle, Sam Wick, Metford, Okla.

K. C. Torpey, father, P. W. Torpey, R.F.D. Box 184, Silverdale,
Wash.

E. Frederichs, mother, Mrs. D.
Frederichs, 219 North Underhill avenue, Peoria, Ill.

R. Burden, father, J. R. Burden,
209 North Maple avenue, Warsaw, Ind.

K. A. Woodall, mother, Mrs. Katy
Woodall, 4221 Fairside street, Dallas, Texas.

K. C. Collings, wife, Mrs. C. D.
Collings, Oceanside, L. I.

W. H. Mante, wife, Mrs. W. H.
Mante, care of Otto Mante Distribution Company, 2017 Main street,
Houston, Texas.

R. G. Smith, fiancée, Miss Mary
Conrad, 532 North Lake street, Warsaw, Ind.

K. Landis, father, S. E. Landis, 117
North Walnut street, Boyertown, Pennsylvania.

In addition to the 11 American airmen, the casualty list consisted of 75 members of the Canadian military personnel, 10 members of the Canadian naval personnel and some private passengers. The number of the latter was not specified but there apparently were 26.

Behind the Canadian government's laconic observation lay one indisputable fact that these Americans had performed their job in "delivering the goods."

They had not been downed on their eastward aerial voyages, behind the sticks of the big bombers they piloted, from Canadian shores to beleaguered England.

Instead, they had delivered those craft destined for bombardment of the German home front and were on their own way home when the "enemy action" that brought their deaths occurred.
